

Questions about the topic 1.1:

1. In today's political discourse multiculturalism means
  - a. victimization and resistance
  - b. the adaption of minority group members to the dominant culture
  - c. understanding and responding to the challenges related to cultural and religious diversity

2. What is the connection between the two concepts antiracism and multiculturalism?
  - a. There is no connection- they mean totally different things.
  - b. The two concepts are different, but related.
  - c. The two terms are synonymous for each other.

3. To which category of critiques of multiculturalism does the following statement fit best?

“The goal of preserving or protecting a culture bears the danger of favouring a supposedly pure version of this culture and thus compromising its ability to adapt to changed circumstances.”

  - a. distraction from the ‘politics of redistribution’
  - b. universalist ideal of equality
  - c. feminist critique of multiculturalism
  - d. cosmopolitan view of culture
  - e. tolerance requires indifference, not adjustment

Correct answers:

1c

2b

3d