

Module 1: Soft-skills

Topic 1.3: Approaches to teaching soft-skills

Introduction to the course

This course was developed within an Erasmus+ KA2 project with the title The system of support for academic teachers in the process of shaping the soft skills of their students.

The aim of the project is to develop 4 courses targeting higher education teachers as guidance for embedding soft-skills teaching into regular courses and curriculum of higher education institutions.

This course is focused on the skills of creativity, innovation, critical thinking, and teamwork. It is organized into 5 modules together bringing 75 hours of learning workload. The methods of learning are based on a mix of self-study, discussions in forums, face-to-face lectures, workshops, and online learning.

Module objectives

- To present definitions of soft-skills as well as their importance for today’s labour market and education.
- To present research results about soft-skills teaching in project countries.
- To show several practical examples of soft-skills teaching.

About the module

In the module about soft skills, we present and discuss the idea of soft skills and the ways which may enhance such skills in students. Several approaches are described and some interesting practical examples are shown either as videos or readings.

In the second part of the module, entrepreneurial learning is exemplified as a way of enhancing students’ entrepreneurial skills, more or less related to innovation, initiative, teamwork, critical thinking, and similar.
